Ukraine crisis draws discussion

UWO professors, students unite to look at connections

By Kaitlyn Scoville
OSHKOSH HERALD

Just over a week after Russia began invading Ukraine on Feb. 24, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh professors and students came together to discuss the situation in a "Current Events in Context" panel.

Anthropology professor Jordan Karsten has been doing research in Ukraine since 2014 and has been bringing along with him, all forging strong connections with locals. Karsten was also in Ukraine when the Revolution of Dignity began in 2014 – he participated in the protests that ousted pro-Russian President Viktor Yanukovich.

Karsten

"People who live in Ukraine have experienced Russian domination for much of the last century – or longer – depending on what part of the country you're in," Karsten said. "So within historical memory, people who lived through the Soviet Union don't want to go back; they don't want to go back to a place

Oshkosh Corp. long history gets library showcase

By Kaitlyn Scoville

"From brochures, photos, signs and lighters to belt buckles – you name it."

The Oshkosh Public Library is hosting a semi-permanent display of one collector's preservation of Oshkosh Corp.'s legacy. From now until at least May, members of the community and former Oshkosh Corp. employees can relive the past on the library's second floor with items dating back to the late 1910s, including original blueprints and the company's first stock certificate issued to William Besserlich, designer of the four-wheel drive concept.

Local history and genealogy reference librarian Michael McArthur said the library had only done one display before the pandemic began in early 2020. A few months ago, he stumbled across Tim Wright's Facebook page that had a photo of his Oshkosh Truck memorabilia collection on display in Kansas.

After some messaging, Wright – also known as Mr. Oshkosh – agreed to bring his collection up.

Wright began his collection in the early 1980s when his father gave him an Oshkosh Truck Crash Fire Rescue Hot Wheels toy. But his admiration of the company dates back earlier.

"My love, appreciation and dedication for the company dates back to 1978 when I was 6 years old and my father was a firefighter," he recalled. "In that year the Airport Fire Department took delivery of a brand-new, shiny green Oshkosh M-1500 Crash Fire Rescue vehicle. After watching the vehicle being unloaded, I was able to explore the interior when my dad put me on his lap as he sat in the driver's seat."

Since that moment in his life, Wright has

Assembly legislator stepping down

Oshkosh Herald

State Rep. Gordon Hintz (D-Oshkosh) will not be seeking re-election to the Assembly this fall, he announced Thursday.

Hintz was first elected to Wisconsin's Assembly in 2006 and was re-elected to his eighth term in the 2021-22 legislative session.

In January, he concluded his tenure as Assembly minority leader, a position he held since being elected by his colleagues in fall 2017. State Rep. Greta Neubauer of Racine is the new minority leader.

He has served as chair of the Assembly Consumer Protection Committee from 2009-2010, a member of the State Building Commission from 2009 to 2014, on the Legislature's budget-writing Joint

Hintz

Committee on Finance for two budget cycles, and as board member of the Wisconsin Economic Development Corp. since 2019.
"Despite the changing nature of politics and different roles and responsibilities I have had in the Assembly, the people of Oshkosh have always remained my absolute priority," Hintz said in a release. "I am proud of the accomplishments I have made – or failed to be made – during my tenure. I have always strived to find value in my work that benefited the people of the 54th District and of our state.

"I will miss many of the people I have served with, and the important work done each and every day."

Though he has not announced any plans for when his term is up, Hintz said he looks forward to the next challenge and will continue his service to constituents until then.

"I would like to thank the people of Oshkosh for their trust and support in giving me the opportunity to represent them in the Assembly," he said.

Winnebago district attorney leaving post

Gov. Tony Evers announced that he is seeking applicants for Winnebago County district attorney to fill the vacancy created by District Attorney Christian A. Gossett, who announced his resignation effective May 7.

Gossett has held the position since he was first elected in 2006 and noted that he is stepping down as the longest serving district attorney in the county to spend more time with his family.

"At this time, I believe it is in my and my family's best interest for me to step back from the obligations that are unique to this position," Gossett said in his resignation letter. "I believe it is an ideal time to take this step as our office is functioning at a very high level, with an extremely competent team."

Gossett also said he has been grateful for the opportunity to serve since his election and thanked his office staff and criminal justice partners for their support in his decision.

"I also want to thank the people of Winnebago County for their trust and support over the years and look forward to helping transition the office with an eye toward continuing to promote fairness, justice and legal innovation."

Gossett most recently spearheaded the Winnebago County Connect jail diversion program that has 20 government organizations partnered to provide treatment services to individuals with alcohol and other drug use issues as an alternative to a proposed jail expansion. The Connect program is situated in the lower level of the Orrin King building.

Applications to fill the district attorney position must go to GovDAapp@wisconsin.gov by March 18.

Neighborhood ARPA funds targeted in region

More than $212.9 million has been awarded statewide through the Neighborhood Investment Fund Grant program announced last week by Gov. Tony Evers to help communities through long-term investments and economic recovery projects.

Evers visited Winnebago County on Thursday to present a check for $10.3 million to support proposals that deal with local housing needs, improvements to a local senior care facility and a community redevelopment initiative.

“Housing instability is a gap in our community,” said County Executive Jon Doemel. “For years, our community has been working together on innovative projects to tackle the continuum of housing – particularly for those who are homeless or at the risk of being homeless which includes those residing in shelters and hotels, couch surfing with friends, or apartments they cannot afford.”

Throughout the pandemic, residents have experienced increasing rent and housing costs, limited availability of housing options, and increasing need for homeless services. The grant will provide funding for partners to stabilize housing access and affordability, which may include:

- Overnight shelter through the Day-By-Day Warming Shelter.
- Development of a community center that will provide comprehensive case management and programming through Oshkosh Kids Foundation’s Tiny House Campus.
- Sober living options through Solu- tions Recovery.

- Respite housing for adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities through Covey.
 - Permanent, affordable housing units through Habitat for Humanity of Oshkosh.
 - Creation of a housing resource center to prevent further housing instability.

“This Neighborhood Improvement Grant will provide the necessary infusion of capital to ensure Winnebago County can begin to treat the root causes of housing insecurity,” Doemel said.

Residents who have experienced a significant loss of income due to the pandemic and need help with their rent can apply for assistance through Advocap. Wisconsinites can visit BadgerBounceback.wi.gov to view pandemic-related assistance information for families, farmers, businesses, organizations and communities.

Part of a nearly $650 million investment allocated for community building and recovery efforts statewide, the Neighborhood Investment Fund program was announced in August and administered by the state Department of Administration (DOA). Grants awarded range in size from $1 million to a maximum of $15 million and are funded through the American Rescue Plan Act.

A full list of grant awardees and additional information can be found on the program website.

“A strong recovery means investing for the future, and ensuring that our communities lead the way,” said DOA Secretary-designee Kathy Blumenfeld.

Grundman Boat Landing project moving forward

Oshkosh Herald

The refurbishing of the Grundman Boat Landing took another step forward as the Winnebago County Board of Supervisors approved funding for the engineering, planning and design for the project at its meeting March 1.

The Board approved a sum of $185,000 to be used to cover the costs of getting the project through the early stages of the planning and will allow for the application for grant money to help cover the costs of the entire project.

According to county parks director Andrew Breest, the entire project will likely cost just under $2 million, with a total of about $1.1 million being covered by the county. The rest of the funds will be provided through grants.

The project has already received a $400,000 grant from the Natural Resource Damage Assessment and Breest said the plan is to apply for a grant up to $500,000 through the state DNR’s recreational boating fund. The deadline to apply for that grant is June 1 and Breest said the county is preparing its application, and the funds approved at the March meeting will help cover the costs of the engineering and planning work to complete the application process.

“We’re just doing enough work to submit for the grant with the DNR,” Breest said. “Then we kind of wait and see what the funding is from them to figure out and really finalize the project and bring it back to the board for construction budget approval.”

The Grundman Boat Landing is one of the more popular boat launches on the west side of Lake Winnebago and is located just north of Oshkosh between Indian Point and Jenkins Point.

Celebrate Education event features grants

More than $44,000 in grants will be awarded during the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation Celebrate Education event that recognizes and honors educators, administrators and volunteers who enrich the lives of students in the community.

The event will be held from 4:30 to 6 p.m. Monday at the Oshkosh Convention Center. The awards presentation begins at 5 p.m. and is open to the public. Call the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation at 920-426-3993 to reserve a seat and visit OshkoshAreaCF.org for more information.

More than 50 educators from public

Breest said the project will include a complete redesign of the boat launch to add more parking and more launches as the site currently can’t handle the amount of traffic it gets during the boating season.

“It’s a very popular launch and it fills up so people are parking on Grundman Lane and other places outside of the lots,” Breest said. “There also isn’t a turnaround there so if you are one of the last vehicles there and have to retrieve your boat, it’s like a 500-foot backup to the launch with vehicle and trailer, which is not safe.”

Adding more launch spaces is also a safety issue, according to Breest, in that if there were a weather event on the lake, the added launch spaces would allow boaters to get off the water in a more timely manner.

In addition to the parking lot expansion and reconfiguration and the added boat launches, Breest said the project will also include some updated amenities that will be decided when the final grant numbers are totaled.

“It needs some updates and some improvements,” Breest said. “We will change the parking lot lights to LED and add more security with more lighting and with the increase use of the boat launch, there is potential for a bathroom facility like we have at the Black Wolf launch.”

Discussions about refurbishing the Grundman Boat Landing started in 2019 and was first presented to the County Board in March of 2021. It’s completion date remains up in the air, however, Beest believes it likely won’t be completed until 2023.

“It could be a spring project, that would be in an ideal world, but we’re probably looking at the fall of next year for the construction,” Breest said.

and private schools will be recognized with classroom and professional development grants, along with other leaders and volunteers recognized for innovative contributions to education. One school will be awarded a technology grant.

The event is sponsored by the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation, Oshkosh Area School District Education Foundation, Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce, Mid-Morning Kiwanis Club of Oshkosh, Edward and Bell Rudoy Endowment Fund, Wisconsin Public Service Foundation and the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh College of Education and Human Services.

Commission moves ahead with Mills on Main project

By Tom Ekvall
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

The Oshkosh Plan Commission took another step forward toward redevelopment of the east side of South Main Street through endorsement of a general development plan that will eventually result in the development of three multistory buildings between West 7th and 9th avenues at last week's meeting.

The new buildings will feature 291 residential units as well as a clubhouse. Project manager Jake Bunz, of Middleton, presented the package for T. Wall Enterprises, which commissioner Justin Mitchell described as a splendid improvement to the area.

To date there have been no objections to the proposal. Other plans include a small outdoor amphitheater, walking path and pickleball court.

Commissioners also asked T. Wall Enterprises to ensure they maximize the use of the green space they plan to have in the development.

In another action, the commission recommended approval of the Oshkosh Housing Needs Assessment and Strategy Plan without discussion, which went before the Common Council at its meeting this week.

The commission also approved a conditional use permit for Oshkosh Defense for temporary outdoor vehicle storage at 1302 Knapp St. through May.

Commissioners also recommended approving a conditional use permit for a communications tower with AT&T at 0 Stillman Drive in the Northwest Industrial Park in an effort to upgrade coverage from existing towers as well as building new facilities.

The tower, though quite close to another AT&T tower, can handle up to four providers for residents in the area.

United Way cites annual accomplishments

The Oshkosh United Way celebrated its 2021 workplace campaign last week, featuring city companies of all sizes and industries. Through the year's campaign, just over $1.58 million was raised.

A workplace campaign is a company-sponsored fundraising drive where employees contribute to the United Way. According to the United Way website, the campaigns make it easy for employees to give and learn about community issues.

Campaign co-chairs Brenda Haines and Bryan Brandt awarded top game-changing awards to Blue Door Consulting, Bergstrom Automotive and Oshkosh Corp. Amcor Flexibles was awarded with the corporate challenge giving award by increasing its donation the most in dollar amount from the previous campaign.

Hoffmaster Group was awarded the corporate participation award for the growth of employee participation.

Tim Bergstrom also announced Clint Herrick of Oshkosh Corp. was the winner of a new 2021 Ford EcoSport donated by Bergstrom Automotive for his participation in the campaign.

Boeing B-29, Cessna gathering set for AirVenture

Doc, one of two airworthy Boeing B-29s in the world, is returning to EAA AirVenture this summer for air show appearances and on display for public view while parked on Boeing Plaza.

The World War II-era bomber will help commemorate the U.S. Air Force's 75th anniversary. AirVenture will feature aircraft from throughout the Air Force's history, from its creation out of the Army Air Forces in 1947 to today's modern aircraft.

"The rarity and the historical significance of the B-29 always make it a popular sight at Oshkosh," said Rick Larsen, EAA's vice president of communities and member programs.

Doc was rescued from the Mojave Desert in 1987 and meticulously restored over a 30-year period. It made its first air show appearance in 2017, including a flight that year with the Commemorative Air Force's B-29 FIFI, marking the first time two B-29s had flown together in formation in about 60 years.

Another featured event coming to AirVenture this year is Cessnas 2 Oshkosh, the mass arrival of Cessna aircraft that will be the 17th gathering since the event's debut.

According to program organizers, 2021's Cessna arrival was a "record year in all aspects" after establishing as a 501(c)(3) charitable organization in the same year.

Though still in the planning stages, formation clinics usually begin mid-March. As soon as the date and location of these clinics are decided, they will be posted on Cessnas2Oshkosh.com.

Information about the training program, as well as audiovisual and printed training material, is available at Cessnas2Oshkosh.com/Training.

The 50th anniversary of Van's Aircraft RV series, which has become the world's most popular kit airplane, will also be a major element of homebuilt aircraft activities at AirVenture.

Pantry support

Another free little pantry in Oshkosh recently opened on the city's west side, at Calvary Lutheran Church, to help deal with food insecurities in the community. Staff at Calvary Lutheran saw a gap in resources on the city's west side. "Food insecurity affects people everywhere, including right here in Oshkosh," their website site reads. "Together, we hope to create a sustainable food resource for our neighbors on the west side of Oshkosh. Come visit us to take what you need or leave what you can."

City of Oshkosh assistant parks director Chad Dallman was recently awarded the Wisconsin Park and Recreation Association's professional award of merit.

"This is the highest professional award given by WPRA to individuals that have demonstrated exemplary service with the association and the leisure services profession," said an announcement from the Parks Department.

The award was granted to Dallman at the WPRA annual conference and awards banquet in late February. He has been with the city for 12 years and has held various positions throughout the community.

At the parks department, Dallman oversees daily operations of parks and several parks improvement projects.

Art contest honors 150th birthday of sculptor

The paintings, drawings and sculptures of Oshkosh's middle school artists are on display at the Oshkosh Public Library. The exhibit in the lower level features winning entries in the annual GFWC-Helen Farnsworth Mears Art Contest, sponsored by the GFWC-Oshkosh Women's Arts Club.

The exhibit will be on display through March 28. The contest honors Mears, a sculptor (1872-1916) born and educated in Oshkosh, whose sculptures are in the U.S. Capitol, the Smithsonian, Wisconsin Capitol, museums and other public spaces.

The competition encourages and recognizes artistic development and achievement among seventh- and eighth-graders in public, private and home schools. Six schools in Oshkosh participated this year. The place winners continue to district competition in De Pere, where the three artworks in each category move on to state judging in Sheboygan.

Three students will receive the Legislator Award from local legislators who will choose a student's artwork for their offices in the Capitol.

This year's winners:
Two-dimensional art (painting and drawing):
1st place - Aubryn Lehman, Valley

Christian School
2nd place - Ally Hasse, Valley Christian School
3rd place - Tok Jok Majok, South Park Middle School
Three-dimensional art: sculpture
1st place -Taylor Rodig, Merrill Middle School
2nd place - Starr Wanner, Perry Tipler Middle School
3rd place - Alexis Maldonado, Valley Christian School

Honorable mention was awarded to Braden Dehn, Dominic Brenzel and Jojie Fuller, South Park Middle School; Megan Bruss, Claudia Herdt, Anne Lyngen and Delaney Smith, Perry Tipler Middle School; Abigail Solomon and Paja Vang, Merrill Middle School; Brooklyn Snyder, Cole Elijah Highfill, Valley Christian.

Judges for the contest were Agnes Footman and Dee Walter. Shirley Brabender Mattox of Oshkosh is the state chairman for the GFWC-Helen Farnsworth Mears Art Contest.

An awards reception will be held in the library's lower level Sunday. The Oshkosh Public Museum will feature an exhibit, "The Genius of Wisconsin" April 23-Aug. 14, with displays and sculptures from Mears.

Ukraine discussion

where their country is dominated by Russia and their freedoms are taken away.

“There are a lot of events that have occurred to Ukrainians that color the way they look at their neighbor. Those memories are fresh for the people of Ukraine.”

Along with Karsten was Ula Klein, chair of the women’s and gender studies department; Trisha Jenz, a 2018 alumna who joined Karsten in Ukraine in previous years; Karl Loewenstein, a history professor; and Tracy Slagter, a political science professor with specific interest in the European Union and international law.

“When I’m thinking about this conflict, one of the things I talk about in class is Western liberal democracy. It’s something worth fighting for,” Slagter said. “Democracy was never meant to be easy. It was never meant to be tidy or a sure path to wealth or power.

“The promise of democracy is to give people a chance to live their fullest lives,” she continued. “It’s to give people a chance for self-governance. That’s what Ukrainians are fighting for and that’s what Putin doesn’t want them to have.”

Loewenstein used the term “historical mythology,” which he said has come into conflict with the facts of the moment, that the Ukrainians don’t accept the imperialism and mythology that Russian President Vladimir Putin has been discussing.

“What I worry about is how Putin will respond when his mythological mission has failed,” Loewenstein said. “Unfortunately, at the moment it looks like those who don’t accept his vision are seen as not part of the story or unity. That gives him grounds to escalate. How do we get past this simplified, self-serving mythology driving this affair?”

Klein, through her family in Poland, said they’re worried that history is going to repeat itself, and emphasized news media placing an emphasis on telling the stories of war refugees, families and freedom fighters, and that those images remind us of the costs of war.

Loewenstein said media in Russia may be affected too by the war and that some citizens are not even aware of the conflict. On the other hand, he said, some may believe Russia is the aggrieved party. There are also those in Russia who do know what’s been happening – more than 7,000 people in the country have been arrested for protesting.

Slagter

One thing that’s unique about this conflict, Slagter said, was that several broken laws of the Geneva Convention – international legal standards for humanitarian treatment in war – are documented quite well, such as targeting schools and hospitals and using certain weapons.

She also said the international criminal court has opened a preliminary investigation into Putin’s actions.

“It’s cold comfort to us who care about those living in Ukraine, in the hopes that the machine of international justice does what it needs to do to bring the perpetrators to account,” Slagter said. “But the process is really slow, evidence collection takes a long time. Russia is still sovereign even though they are in the wrong.”

In the meantime, other countries are stepping in to support Ukraine by sending supplies and weaponry, such as the U.S., Great Britain and even Germany.

“Everybody’s scared but very proud of the Ukrainian army, and they’re ready to defend their homeland and their freedom,” Karsten said. “I have friends who weren’t in Ukraine at the time the Russians invaded and they went back to fight.

“This is the future of their country and it’s better lives for themselves and their kids, for freedom, for democracy. They won’t stop fighting until there’s no Ukrainians left. (Putin) is up against all the Ukrainian people – I don’t think that’s a fight anybody can win.”

Jenz also spoke to it, saying though she isn’t ancestrally Ukrainian, the country is part of who she is.

“It’s very difficult to see people you know – people you consider friends or family – going through the things they’re going through,” she said.

“I always have a sense of how proud people are and how strong they are as a people. You shouldn’t stop listening to the stories. Keep Ukraine close to your heart, watch the news and do what you think you can to make a difference for them.”

Library showcase

connected with former employees, friends and others through word of mouth to gather thousands of artifacts from Oshkosh Truck's past.

“There’s a difference between just being a collector and someone who is very passionate about preserving history. I want people to be able to see, touch and enjoy it,” he said. “There’s a lot of stuff that unfortunately ends up in basements never to be seen again, and when the individual passes away it usually all ends up in the garbage can or somewhere it shouldn’t be.”

He's been putting his memorabilia collection up for display for others for more than two decades. At some events he has had anywhere from 12 to 18 tables to showcase his collection.

"I'm all about sharing the memorabilia I've preserved, so it's great to be able to bring it back to the community and past employees to see the company they helped make successful," Wright said.

The Badger Four Wheel Drive Auto Co. was originally founded in 1909 in Clintonville by Besserdich and brother-in-law Otto Zachow.

A year later, the company changed its name to the Four Wheel Drive Auto Co. and is now known as the FWD Corp.

Then in 1917, Besserdich and B.A. Mosling had a dream to create a 2-ton truck that would go anywhere regardless of the conditions in which it would operate. On May 1, 1917, the Wisconsin Duplex Auto Co. was formed in Clintonville to make that dream a reality.

The company then relocated to Oshkosh in 1918 and was re-named the Oshkosh Motor Truck Manufacturing Co. And today, the company is simply known as Oshkosh Corp.

After gathering a few of more items from his father, Wright took them out of storage about 20 years ago and began to seriously research the history of Oshkosh Corp. “and quickly fell in love with the incredible story of this amazing American company.

“While collecting memorabilia about the company I also found myself developing personal relationships with its current as well as former employees,” Wright added. One of his most cherished relationships was with Clarence “Inky” Jungwirth, a World War II veteran who began working at the company in 1945.

Jungwirth passed away in January 2018 at age 98, just months after being honored by riding in the company's first vehicle, "Old Betsy" during the 100th anniversary parade, Wright said, noting the outstanding opportunity for Jungwirth to dub him "Mr. Oshkosh" for his dedication to preserving the company's history.

“He’s got tons of memorabilia from different anniversaries, whether it be

Art in Garden show set by Altrusa Club

Altrusa International Club of Oshkosh has its 14th people's choice Art in the Garden Art Show and Sale set from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 26 and 27 at the Hilton Garden Inn.

On display will be original photography, oils, fiber, jewelry, glass and basketry, and all entries are juried. More than 30 Midwest artists are vying for awards that the public will determine by voting.

shirts, cards or posters, some of which are over 100 years old, highlighting Oshkosh Corp. products," McArthur said. "It seems so small but it takes someone like Tim who loves everything about Oshkosh Corp. to think about getting that stuff and saving it."

The display will be open for library visitors on the second floor in the vicinity of their local history collection, McArthur said.

Wright has had his collection up in Oshkosh for business anniversaries and other events throughout the years, but McArthur said this is the first time it will be on display semi-permanently in the city.

"Oshkosh Corp. is one of the last remaining Oshkosh name brand companies still in the city. It's neat to see someone collect the ephemera and the history," McArthur said.

Wright said people should come visit the display to relive the past.

"There's probably not a person in the community who doesn't know somebody that worked for Oshkosh Truck or Oshkosh Corp. or who worked there themselves. It's a remarkable opportunity to be able to have something that dates back to 1918 and the company is still alive, prospering and doing well in the same community."

Though McArthur doesn't have anything else lined up after Wright's display has come and gone, he said he plans to prioritize bringing more in now that the community can spend more time in the building.

Those who have a collection they think would make a notable display in the library can reach out to the library's information desk at 920-236-5203.

Vaccinate is Order: The City Health Department took precautionary measures when a high school student became ill with smallpox. Because of the possibility of exposure to smallpox, health officer A.H. Broche has issued an order requiring all students of the Oshkosh High School to be vaccinated. Those that have not been previously vaccinated and those who refuse to be vaccinated shall be required to remain away from school for twenty-five days. Dr. Broche recommends that young people receive their vaccination from their family physician, but he will vaccinate at the High School building for those who do not conform to his request. The health department will charge ten cents to cover the cost for the treatment. This action was prompted when a young female student was taken ill with smallpox.

Flamboyant comedian takes Oshkosh Arena stage

By Kaitlyn Scoville
OSHKOSH HERALD

“I’m coming to Oshkosh, watch out everybody.”

Bob the Drag Queen will be performing her standup comedy routine at the Oshkosh Arena Saturday, March 26 at 8 p.m.

“It’s not lip syncing, it’s all standup – I’ve been doing that for probably 13 or 14 years now, and I’ve been lucky enough to do this show,” she said. “I’m really proud of what I’m presenting.”

The season eight winner of RuPaul’s Drag Race accumulated more than 5 million subscribers across social media sites Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and TikTok.

Bob initially got into the drag scene after watching RuPaul and eventually got onto the show. She said she was obsessed from the moment she laid eyes on it.

Bob the Drag Queen is the alter-ego of nonbinary comic and actor Caldwell Tridicue, who describes herself as “hilarious, beautiful, talented and... humble.”

2016’s “America’s Next Drag Superstar” has starred in several roles on HBO, Netflix, Sony Tristar, MTV and VH1. She also released her second comedy special, “Bob the Drag Queen Live at Caroline’s” on iTunes, and co-hosts a podcast called “Sibling Rivalry.”

But she was introduced to drag even before then, as her mother owned a drag bar in Columbus, Georgia. And after spending some time in Waukesha, Bob said it’ll be nice for her to visit close to her former stomping grounds.

“It’s just me, by myself, telling my jokes. There’s a lot of humor about my life being a Black, queer southerner being a drag queen living in New York City,” Bob said. “I’ve always had a love for the Midwest. I get to see new faces; I love meeting people, traveling and getting out, and I enjoy being able to perform somewhere new.”

For more information and to purchase tickets, search “Bob the Drag Queen Oshkosh” on ticketmaster.com or visit oshkosharena.com.

Defense stands tall as Spartans advance to sectionals

Oshkosh North's Steven Clark fights for a loose ball in Friday night's win against Seymour.

West's Gauthier claims state crown

Oshkosh West's Xavier Gauthier topped Aiden Walter of D.C. Everest, 247-237, to claim the Division 1 boys singles title at the Wisconsin High School Bowling Club State Championships hosted by the Super Bowl in Appleton on Sunday.

Gauthier was the top seed after two rounds of qualifying entering the five-bowler stepladder finals and rolled the highest game of anyone in the finals to claim the state title. Walter was seeded second.

Gauthier stood in eighth place after the first round of qualifying, posting a score of 711. That left him eight pins out of the top five and 38 behind Ethan Jones of Janesville Parker, who was the top qualifier.

But Gauthier had the highest score among the 26 semifinalists with a 730 and bolted to the top of the leaderboard for the finals. He finished qualifying with a score of 1,441, which was 12 pins more than Walter and 38 more than Emmanuel McPherson.

Another Oshkosh West bowler, Riley Egnoski, also earned a spot in the semifinal round of qualifying after placing 24th in the opening round. He finished qualifying in 19th place with a total of 1,282.

Jacob Cornell of Oshkosh West totaled 574 pins in the first round of qualifying but did not advance to the semifinals.

The co-op Oshkosh North/West girls team had one individual qualifier in Samantha Brown, who finished eighth after two rounds of qualifying. She finished with a total of 1,210 pins and was 29 short of claiming the final spot in the girls stepladder finals.

The West boys were ninth among the 24 qualifying teams with a score of 3,241 – 42 pins out of the top five – while North/West girls were 11th among the 15 teams with a total score of 2,453.

It was a different feel for the Oshkosh North boys basketball team entering the playoffs as the Spartans moved from Division 1 to Division 2.

While they earned the No. 4 seed, most of their wins came in the tough Fox Valley Association where five of their seven losses were to teams ranked in the state's top 10 in Division 1, so they couldn't be overlooked.

The Spartans hosted No. 5 Seymour and while the offense usually sets the tone, the defense stepped up as they picked up a 56-48 win Friday night.

The Spartans then went on to defeat No. 1 seed Notre Dame 68-62 in the regional final Saturday and are now two games away from state. The Spartans face No. 2 Ashwaubenon Thursday night at Green Bay Southwest.

"I was proud of our effort and ability to win," North head coach Brad Weber said. "The goal now is to survive and advance. There are no style points in the postseason. Our conference has prepared us for these types of games. Every night in the FVA feels like this."

North would jump out to an early lead, 11-2, and increased that to 20-10 before Seymour would finish the half on a 9-4 run to make it 24-19 at halftime.

The Thunder got within two early in the second half, but that's when North started to put it away for good.

"Seymour is a very good defensive team," Weber said. "We knew we were going to have to work hard to score. I was pleased with our shot selection – they just didn't go in last night. We are a 41% shooting team from the 3-point line. Statistics always even out and I guess that just means we are due for a better shooting night."

The Spartans started to get contributions across the board with Ari Giannopoulos knocking down a pair of free throws before a Reed Seckar

3-pointer pushed the lead to 32-24. Giannopoulos was huge off the bench for the Spartans as his triple later in the game gave the Spartans their biggest lead, 42-30.

"Ari is a good basketball player," Weber said. "His ability to come off the bench and provide us with a scoring punch is a really nice boost and doesn't allow the defense to relax. He showed his ability to close out games last year as a sophomore. It provides us with a lot of flexibility with our subbing rotation and gives us another offensive threat to keep defenses from over helping in the paint."

With all the momentum on their side, North continued to pile on as Steven Clark went back to the inside to push the lead to 45-30. You had to like the Spartans chances at this point, but once again Seymour had some answers as a quick 5-0 run anchored by another Weyer three pulled the Thunder within 10.

That 10-point lead grew to double digits yet again with Cooper Juedes going back inside. Couple that with a defense that was solid all game long and Weber loves what he saw throughout the second half.

"I thought our ball pressure and rebounding were really good," he said. "Our guys work their tails off on the defensive end. Sometimes we get caught on a scheme or surprised by a play or two, but we are quick to adjust and never give in. We are a resilient group."

Titans stunned by Case Western in NCAA tourney

By Dustin Riese
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

One of the hardest things about being on top is trying to stay on top. For the UW Oshkosh men's basketball team, that has been the case for the better part of the last five years. After winning the national title in 2019 and having no champion crowned the past two seasons, the Titans were technically still the defending champs and looking to repeat.

The Titans earned the top seed for their regional and hosted the first weekend of the Division III tournament. Coming off a comfortable win on Friday, the Titans played host to Case Western Reserve (Ohio).

If the first half was any indication, the Titans looked as if they would have a field day with the Spartans as they were on top of their game both offensively and defensively. As the second half went on the Spartans started to gain momentum and closed out the game on a massive surge to stun the top-seeded Titans, 77-74.

With the help of Eddie Muench, who finished with a game high 21 points, Oshkosh got production from Eric Peterson, Quinn Steckbauer and Levi Borchert down the stretch as they closed out the first half on an 11-2 run to help give them a 41-27 advantage.

It didn't take long for the Spartans to claw their way back into the game, using a 9-0 run to pull themselves within five points and then eventually tied the game at 55.

Things remained tied for the next few minutes until a Steckbauer triple put the Titans back in front 60-57. Primarily a bench player, Steckbauer has bounced around between starter and sixth man and provided the Titans with a huge offensive lift this season. He finished with 16 points, which helped balance out Borchert's seven points as the Spartans defense held him in check.

Despite the Titans giving the Spartans plenty of haymakers, Case Western wouldn't go away as the Oshkosh defense had no answers for Ryan Newton and company. A tough 3-point play from Newton tied things up while Cole Frilling gave the Spartans their first lead since early on 62-60.

A pair of Titans free throws tied things up and Muench continued to drive at the Case Western defense to retake the lead before Hunter Plamann connected on an open three to cap off a 7-0 run with the Titans leading 67-62. Plamann overcame a rough shooting night to finish with 16 points.

The Spartans pulled within 74-73 with less than a minute to go. Hoping to run out the clock and knock down their free throws, Plamann was trapped in the back court and a jump ball was called, giving the ball back to the Spartans. In need of a defensive stop, the Titans got what they asked for as Newton came away with a rare miss. The Titans couldn't corral the rebound as Frilling hustled to the open spot to tip it in, giving the Spartans a one-point lead late.

Still with plenty of time on the offensive end, the Titans appeared to hurry a bit on their next possession and missed a shot, then forced to foul a 93 percent free throw shooter in Mitch Prendergast, who made both at the line.

The Titans got the look they wanted as a three-quarter pass landed in the hands of Jonah Rindfleisch, who tipped it back to Muench for the three-point attempt, which hit the back of the rim.

UW Oshkosh advanced to Saturday's game with a 92-74 victory over Blackburn College.

Cole Booth led five players in double figures for the Titans with 23 points. Borchert had a double-double with 17 points and a team-high 10 rebounds, while Muench finished with 16.

Ice conditions report

By Jim Nobbe
PAYNE'S POINT HOOK AND SPEAR FISHING CLUB

As of Monday, there was still 18 to 24 inches of ice on the lake. The large rain fall we received March 5 has definitely taken its toll on the ice. There are random sink holes forming in the ice from all of the water that was on the ice and the landings are getting beat up now from the rain.

The club removed its truck bridge that was out on Sunday. We did leave our ATV bridge out though. It will most likely be out through next weekend. By the time you are reading this I suspect Otter Street Fishing Club will have pulled there bridges off the lake also.

If you look east from Oshkosh you will most likely see some trucks and portable shacks out in the middle of the lake where the last few diehards are perch fishing for the next few days. If you are traveling on the lake be careful around reefs and the shore where the water is shallow. Every day that passes the ice in these areas is deteriorating faster than the ice in deeper waters.

I suspect that the lake will be covered in ice for the next couple of weeks before it starts to break up, unless we start seeing sunny days with temperatures in the 40s to 50s and more rain. Please support your local fishing clubs, and remember the ice is never 100% safe.

Titan women sting Storm to advance to Sweet 16

The University of Wisconsin Oshkosh women’s basketball team picked up two wins last weekend in the WIAA Division III Tournament, advancing them to the Sweet 16 for the third straight year under head coach Brad Fischer.

The Titans (21-6) beat Wisconsin Lutheran 48-42 in the opener and then knocked off Simpson College (Iowa), 64-56, in the round of 32.

UW Oshkosh has won at east one game in its past 14 trips to the NCAA Division III Tournament and is looking to reach the Elite Eight for the first time since 1999.

Fischer

The Titans will face Baldwin Wallace University (Ohio) Friday night.

In Saturday’s win against the fourth-ranked Storm, UWO took a 48-45 lead on a Leah Porath 3-pointer going into the fourth quarter. Simpson College was able to trim the lead to three multiple times but was unable to grab the lead.

Leading 57-54 with 45 seconds left, UWO’s Nikki Arneson made a layup and then made three more free throws to ice the game. Arneson led the Titans with 20 points while dishing out five assists.

Porath added 18 points while Jenna Jorgenson chipped in 11. UWO made 11-of-26 3s in the win, with Porath and Jorgenson connecting on seven of them.

The Titans limited the potent Simpson offense to its lowest point total since the 2017-18 season. The Storm was held to just 37 percent shooting from the floor and went 7-of-25 from 3-point range.

It was also the first loss for Simpson on its homecourt since the 2020 season.

On Friday, the Titans overcame a rough third quarter to pull out a win over the Warriors.

UW Oshkosh scored just six points in the third period as Wisconsin Lutheran erased the Titans’ six-point lead and stormed into the lead.

UW Oshkosh responded by holding the Warriors to just six points in the fourth quarter en route to grabbing the win. The Titans held the Warriors scoreless for the final 5:36 of the fourth quarter, taking the lead on Jorgenson’s 3-pointer with 1:14 to play.

Arneson led the way with 17 points and was the lone player to reach double figures for the Titans. She also led the team with 10 rebounds.

Titans tab former Whitewater coordinator as next head coach

Oshkosh Herald

The University of Wisconsin Oshkosh announced last week that they have hired UW-Whitewater offensive coordinator Peter Jennings as the team's next head coach.

Jennings, the 23rd head coach in UWO's history, has been offensive coordinator for the past four seasons at powerhouse UW-Whitewater where he helped lead the Warhawks to a 39-4 record with three Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles.

"Peter has a great vision for Titan football," UW Oshkosh director of athletics Darryl Sims said at a press conference. "He has an innovative mind and has demonstrated the ability to work well with student-athletes and make them better both in the classroom and on the football field. Peter's enthusiasm is contagious and resonates well with players and coaches through his interactions.

"He also understands the makeup of our conference and knows what it takes to be successful in our league and at the national level."

Jennings takes over for Pat Cerroni, who announced his retirement in November after 15 successful years at the helm. Cerroni compiled a program-best 109-45 record with four WIAC championships and each of the team's five NCAA postseason appearances.

"It is with great humility and unabashed excitement that I accept the offer to become the next head football coach at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh," Jennings said. "Throughout my athletic career, as a player and a coach, I have had great teammates, great players, great coaches, great administrators and unwavering support from my family.

"I am truly ecstatic that they have entrusted me to take the reins of one of the flagship programs in all of Division III football."

UW-Whitewater reached the 2019

NCAA Division III championship game and the national semifinals in 2018 and 2021.

Prior to joining the UW-Whitewater staff, Jennings was the offensive coordinator and associated head coach at Rhodes College (Tenn.) from 2016-18, the offensive coordinator at Carroll University from 2012-16 and the offensive coordinator at Iowa Wesleyan University from 2008-11.

Jennings played college football at Illinois College where he started at quarterback for four seasons after transferring from Bemidji State.

Beyer records 200th win with Titans

UW Oshkosh softball coach Scott Beyer earned his 200th career victory Sunday, reaching the milestone with a 9-0, five-inning win over The College of St. Scholastica (Minn.) in UW Oshkosh's Rec Plex.

Beyer, who boasts a 200-97 record in his ninth season with the Titans, becomes the third UW Oshkosh coach and 10th in Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference history to reach 200 career wins. Beyer's .673 winning percentage, the best in UW Oshkosh history, ranks third among WIAC coaches with at least 200 career wins.

Beyer guided UW Oshkosh to the Eau Claire Regional title a year ago and went on to finish fifth at the World Series. The Titans, the 2021 WIAC regular season and postseason champions, earned their first World Series win, downing Tufts University (Mass.), 7-1, before concluding the season with a 29-13 record.

Beyer has continued UW Oshkosh's string of 17 consecutive 20-plus win full seasons that began in 2004. Beyer led the Titans to records of 23-11 during his debut season at the helm in 2014, 30-12 in 2015, 26-13 in 2016, 33-13 in 2017, 26-14 in 2018, 23-17 in 2019.

The 2020 campaign was shortened due to the pandemic.

West's Buehring finishes strong in breakthrough season

By Tim Froberg
OSHKOSH HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

Stephen Colbert may host “The Late Show,” but Ben Buehring staged one of his own this winter.

Buehring’s late show came on the mat. The Oshkosh West senior overcame a late start to his prep wrestling career and put together a slam-bang finish to reach his goal of competing at the WIAA state individual tournament.

Buehring didn’t appear to be destined for a trip to Madison in early February after placing fifth in the 220-pound weight class at the Fox Valley Association tournament. However, Buehring saved his best work for last. He won his class at the Wildcats’ regional meet, then became a first-time state meet qualifier with a second-place finish at the Oshkosh North sectional.

Buehring dropped both of his matches at the state meet, but it didn’t faze him. The experience of making his long-awaited state tournament debut was rewarding enough. Buehring made sure to soak in every sight and sound.

“It was kind of whirlwind,” Buehring said. “The second I walked into the building, I was like, ‘Wow,’ I guess I made it.”

“I looked up at the Jumbotron at one point and it showed how many Wisconsin wrestlers start out at the season and how only about eight percent make it to state. That was an eye opener. I was like, “Holy Moly.”

Buehring finished his breakthrough senior season at 19-11.

“Ben started in the sport really late and has improved since Day One,” said West coach Matt Cuadra. “He’s always been a guy who continued to learn through the year and got better with each match.”

It took time for Buehring to build mo-

Ben Buehring is coming off a breakthrough season on the wrestling mat where he earned his first trip to the state meet.

mentum in his wrestling career, but once he got rolling, he was a giant boulder in motion. Buehring began wrestling in the sixth grade, then skipped a year before returning to it in the eighth grade. He didn’t wrestle his freshman year, but went out for the team as a sophomore. Buehring spent most of the year wrestling on the JVs before being promoted late in the season and wrestling well enough to qualify for sectionals.

Buehring wrestled exclusively on varsity as a junior - competing at 195 and 220 - but failed to distinguish himself.

“I didn’t do too hot,” said Buehring, summing up his junior year. “I ended my sophomore year at about 180, then the pandemic hit and things went downhill for me during quarantine. I gained 30 to 40 pounds and was just sluggish my junior year. I wasn’t used to working out with all the weight I was carrying.

“I really should have gone out for wrestling my freshman year. I don’t know what I was thinking. The main reason I went out for wrestling as a sophomore was to get in shape for baseball, but it grew on me. The team was fun. The coaches were fun. Everything about it was fun.”

Senior Spotlight

Buehring decided over the summer to make a stronger commitment to wrestling, but have fun in the process.

“I think I came into this season with a better attitude,” he said. “I realized that when I was having more fun with wrestling, I was more successful. So I made sure to enjoy the sport more - just have fun.”

Buehring won’t get much down time. The two-sport athlete is about to begin baseball practice. Buehring, a strong-armed catcher who hits with power, is a returning starter for the Wildcats. He’ll try to build off a big summer season while competing on the Oshkosh American Legion team.

“Our Legion team finished third in the state, so that was a great experience,” he said. “I love baseball. It’s my favorite sport and I’ve always been a catcher. I’m just starting to get my arm ready. I’ll be ready to go.”

Buehring has finished his wrestling career, but plans to play baseball at the next level. He will attend Marion University in the fall and will play on the school’s baseball team. Buehring is an honor-roll student at West with a 3.3 grade-point-average. He plans to pursue a marketing major.

“I’ve dreamed about playing college baseball ever since I started playing ball,” Buehring said. “All kids who play baseball want to make it to the major leagues. College is a middle step to see if you’ve really got it or not. I can’t wait to get started.”

THINK GREEN!

Happy St. Patrick's Day!

Although it began in Ireland, St. Patrick's Day is celebrated in countries around the world. People with Irish heritage remind themselves of the beautiful green countryside of Ireland by wearing green and taking part in the festivities.

Standards Link: Social Science: Students compare the beliefs, customs, traditions and social practices of various cultures.

Shamrocks!

In Ireland, clover leaves are also called shamrocks. Fields of clover or shamrocks are part of what make Ireland's countryside so green.

Most shamrocks have three leaves. But sometimes one grows with four leaves. This is called a lucky four-leaf clover. Can you find one on this page?

Standards Link: Classification: Visual Discrimination.

Shamrock Shoe Search

The leprechaun Seamus O'Scoop has hidden 10 shoes in these shamrocks. Can you find them all?

How Big Are Leprechauns?

Can you read three shoe-lengths of news? Put your shoes end to end to measure three shoe lengths. Mark the length on a piece of paper. Now read a news story in today's newspaper. Using your measure, find the length of your news story. Did you read the length of a leprechaun?

Standards Link: Math: Measure the length of given objects.

Wee folk are we. At most we grow to the length of your shoes times three!

What Comes Next?

Look for a pattern in each row. Draw the picture that comes next in the box at the end of each row.

Standards Link: Math: Students identify and extend simple patterns.

How Did Leprechauns Get Their Gold?

Stories from Ireland tell about magical little people called leprechauns who make shoes for fairies. Fairies wear out their shoes quickly because they dance all night. Leprechauns sell a lot of shoes to fairies and the fairies always pay in gold. This is what the stories say. What do you think?

The leprechaun's shoe shelf has toppled. Can you match the pairs of fairy shoes?

Standards Link: Math: Students identify, sort and classify objects.

Extra! Extra! Abbreviations

"St." is an abbreviation for the word Saint. Clip six examples of abbreviations from the newspaper. Write the whole word for each abbreviation.

Standards Link: Writing Conventions: Identify and correctly use abbreviations.
